

GROUNDHOG DAY 2010

Dover Doug's Prognostication

In Washington they debate about health care
While our only debate is how many sweaters to wear

They haggle over the public option or a single payer
We struggle to add another clothing layer

Because, in December, the temperatures started to dip
Ever since then Old Man Winter had us in his grip.

From Boston to Austin, from Miami to Maine
All this cold weather will drive you insane

Day after day of living in this arctic locker
I think I am about to go off my rocker

Being cooped up every day is making me lazy
You might say this cabin fever is driving me crazy

The weather forecast sure haven't been kind
I think if I hear of one more winter storm I'll lose my mind!

But now, without further hesitation,
I, Dover Doug, will give you my 2010 prognostication:

I'm sorry to say an early spring is not in sight
Six more weeks of winter will be our plight!
